InteRisk Group Introduction

The company was founded in the 1990s by our principal and risk specialist Barry Archer following a successful career as corporate leader and International Risk Specialist in the Construction, Development and Property industries.

The strength in our service delivery is built on the depth of technical expertise and diversity of platforms we deliver to assist our clients in all areas of operational business risk.

We have not rushed into our corporate growth. We have instead invested in seeking the best people from a greater range of specialties to give depth of quality and industry experience. We have our graduate programs that have produced recognised industry experts and we continue to watch and learn from our clients every day to assess their needs and exposures, ensuring that we can be the leading edge of their Operational Risk Plans.

Our guiding principles of “Accuracy and Honesty” have served the company well and can be seen in the relationships we have with many of our clients and the people we have worked with going back over 20 years, we are very proud of our history.

“Trust is earned, Respect is given, and Loyalty is demonstrated.”

Betrayal of any one of those is to lose all three.
